BRITISH POLICY IN PALESTINE CONDEMNED

London, Oct. 21 (AP)—Zionist Jewry the world over today voiced protests at conditions in the new statement of British policy in Palestine, which they consider will impede their making of the Holy Land a national home for Jews.

Dr. Chaim Weizmann, resigning his position of president of the world Zionist organization and of the Jewish agency to emphasize his opposition to the British policy, intimated it might be necessary to transfer the seat of Zionist activity from London to the United States.

He has called a meeting of the political committee of the Zionist organization in London for Nov. 20 to discuss the entire matter. A mass meeting of Jews will be held Monday in Whitechapel.

The question of the transfer of the Zionist seat to the United States will come up at a meeting of the world Zionist congress and council of the Jewish agency to be convened in February.

The new statement of British policy was published in conjunction with the report of the commission of Sir John Hope Simpson, sent to investigate conditions which produced the riots of August, 1929, in which 241 persons died.

The statement reaffirms the terms of the British mandate from the League of Nations to govern the country, which says that immigration must be equally just, fair and considerate of all the inhabitants of the country, regardless of race or religion.

Among its features most objectionable to Zionists are the virtual closure of the country for Jewish immigration, on the ground that very little land is left for settlement.

MAN IN TRANCE TO BARE DEATH

New York, Oct. 21 (INS)—An alleged slayer will be hypnotized this week and questioned, as to what he knows of the killing of his son.

The subject of this experiment, one of the most unusual in the history of criminal jurisprudence, will be Vincenzo Calise, 61, charged with slaying his son, Salvatore, 25. The killing is alleged to have occurred when the father rushed through his Brooklyn home with an axe and revolver, striking and shooting at his family.

Since his arrest Calise has maintained he recalls nothing of the attack, and doctors have said they believe him. Calise and his counsel agreed to the test in order that attorneys may determine his mental status. Anything Calise may say in his trance will be worthless as evidence.

Jury Deliberates All Night in $3 Beer Theft

Minden, Neb., Oct. 21 (AP)—A district court jury was deliberating for an hour when it reached a verdict today in a case of beer theft.

The complaint against Moon was made by John W. Coopers, a farmer. County Atty. J. L. McPherson filed the burglary charge and also filed a charge for possession of liquor against Coopers. The latter still is pending in county court.

One defense set up by Moon's attorneys was that under the prohibition laws beer was not property, and therefore could not be stolen. District Judge J. W. James ruled, however, that although possession of beer was prohibited, it still was subject to larceny.

Moon maintained he had no part in the theft.

In the complaint against Moon, the value of the property stolen was placed at only $3. McPherson said that covered the cost of the containers, and he had made no attempt to value the beer.

Doolittle's Stunts May Mean $50 Fine

Washington, Oct. 21 (AP)—Jimmy Doolittle, former crack Army flier, who crashed into an Army plane while stunting over the Kansas City airport several weeks ago, has been notified by the Commerce Department that he stands liable to a fine of $50 for breaking regulations against air acrobatics.

He is entitled to appeal from the notice and will be given a hearing before the Secretary of Commerce or a representative if he does appeal.

"HOOD'S are too fussy..."

that's why I don't sell them my milk"

THIS statement made by a milk producer was intended as an indictment. We took it as a compliment and so pass it on to you.

We are "fussy" about a lot of things. About cleanliness, about scientific sanitation, about equitable relations with those with whom we deal. We are more than fussy about those things that make for Quality in the milk that comes to you with the Hood seal.

If you could visit one of the Hood country plants where milk is received from the Hood farmers every day, you would understand why we were charged with being fussy. If you could visit the dairies where Hood's Grade A Milk is produced you would see at once just what this being fussy means.

We are fussy, but the producers of Hood's Grade A Milk like our fussy ways and give us their wholehearted co-operation in maintaining the Hood high standards of purity, richness and cleanliness.

Farms regularly inspected by trained experts. Cows examined and tested by veterinaries. Milk tested at the country stations and again at the Hood laboratories. Quality, Quality, Quality. Safety, Safety, Safety. Yes, we're fussy.

RICH MILK—Better than legal requirements for Grade A Milk. Rich all through.

CLEAN MILK—From clean cows, produced under rigid supervision. Hood's standards three times as strict as State laws.

TESTED COWS—From cows tuberculin tested under State and Federal supervision, and thus especially selected by our own inspectors.

CLEAN BOTTLES—Bottles are scientifically cleansed and sterilized by the most modern equipment in New England.

SEALED BOTTLES—Double sealed to prevent tampering or contamination.

PASTEURIZED—With the most modern and scientifically correct methods and equipment.

Stubbing Toe
On New Pee Wee
Golf Course

Played With Putter and Profanity, Says Parson

Folk, you may not know it, but you are fanning with one of the world's best golfers. No, not worse. We said best. Any fellow that can take nine swipes in the rough, get on to the green and hole in for a "4," must be a good, very, very good golfer, a super Bobby Jones. We were not taking strokes down there in the rough, honest to goodness and cross our hearts. We were only killing snakes. Now in our card right? Being a good golfer, even though we still have to break a "100," we have a confession to make. We make it with bowed and dejected mien and hang our head in shame. Never did we think we ever would live to see the day—oh, the shame and sorrow of it—but we have become addicted to pee-wee golf.

Yes, we have succumbed to the wiles of that illegitimate child of Auld Scotia's grand old game. Any evening you are likely to see a wild-eyed and raving, and uttering maniacal peeps, pursuing the little red ball all over the Giganitic Course, just off Harvard Avenue, near Commonwealth. Last night Joe Doherty took us for two bucks. But we'll get back at him tonight, even if we have to smother in a rationales or bus conductor to help our card.

Don't it beg the Dutch how this miniature golf has caught on. Everybody's playing it from grampa down to the baby. Rich man, poor man, beggar man, prevalent. We suppose we are in that latter category after killing those snakes.

But doesn't this epidemic of pee-wee golf beat all tarnation? There are more bantam golf courses than there are speakeasies. And everyone knows the whole country has broken out in a perfect rash of poison parlors.

Bantam golf has even reached the stage where they are shrieking against it from the pulpit. We picked up a paper the other day and read how a Jersey minister had appealed to the law to prevent the erection of a pee-wee course near his church. The sky pilot told the court that to play the game a putter wasn't half as necessary as prokty. Maybe the parson was right. Golf, either straight or dwarf, certainly improves one's vocabulary.

With a few more seasons we may be able to swear in Chinese and cuss in Eskimo.

When you consider that statistics show more than $100,000,000 has been invested in miniature golf, 35,000 courses have been built and more than 20,000,000 people are playing it, just think of the number of new words which will have to be added to the dictionary. They should start increasing the size of the Public Library at once.

LOOKOUT MOUNTAIN

Massachusetts people should be interested in bantam golf. It was born atop of Lookout Mountain, that led the charge up Lookout Mountain. A grand uncle of ours led the 33rd Mass. the day they chased Johnny Reb off the mountain top. We stepped on his pet corn when we were a kid and he gave us a worse spanking than he did the Rebel.

Right there on Lookout Mountain, wet with the blood of Bay State men, bantam golf was born. Garnet Carter had a hotel there and installed a pee-wee course which he called Fairland. Three months after Carter built that first course the whole South was dotted with them and they had spread as far west as Los Angeles. In California they no longer ask you how do you like the climate. They say "Have you tried our pee-wee?"

The first bantam course north of the Mason and Dixon line was laid at 12th Street, Long Island

Now you can't take a step on Long Island without stubbing your toe on a miniature. One day last summer when motoring on the Jerico Turnpike we put out our hand to signal a turn and two pee-wee courses promptly ran up our sleeve.

In the first nine days after Walter McDama built that first Northern bantam course he took in $332. Some of the bigger bantam courses now have been known to take in almost that sum in a single day. Bantam golf has been a great thing for the small investor. From investments of from $600 to $10,000, some of the course owners are clearing $25,000 to $50,000 per year. Bookkeepers take note.

Bantam golf has put millions of dollars into circulation, provided employment for hundreds and thousands of carpenters, electricians, painters, and other given workers, given amusement and recreation to millions, raised the value of waste land and shed about the only ray of sunshine that has pierced the real estate gloom. Nine hundred bantam builders now are after every empty lot.

WHAT A RACKET

Theaters, halls, lofts, stores, are being turned into bantam courses. Pool and billiard rooms are giving way to the new game and many bowling alley owners are closing up and investing their money in pee-wee golf. They are finding more profit in golf balls than high balls. What a racket!

Here in Boston miniature golf courses have sprung up like mushrooms. Hundreds already have been built and hundreds more will be built next spring. Remember bantam golf only hit New England last June.

Yes, bantam golf only walked Boston last June, yet in that short space of time the game has enlarged, improved. Builders, headed by the Giganitic Miniature Golf Company, are building the courses much larger with longer holes, longer drives and more in conformation with the original game. That Giganitic Course in Allston is the largest in New England.

The latest thing is a new flooring of the greens called covrle, which looks like grass, feels underfoot like grass and offers a surface like the best-kept of the outdoor putting greens. It is so grassy looking attendants have to be restrained from watering and mowing it.

Bantam golf is everybody's game. The same day, not long ago, we picked up a paper and read a European dispatch telling how the Prince of Wales on his visit to Belgium played miniature golf with Queen Elizabeth, and saw a picture of the front yard of Sidney Schenckelstein, an enterprising Brooklyn boy. Close to the sidewalk was a sign on which was printed:

"We Willie Golf Course. Children 1c. Adults 2c. Candy and Soda can be bought inside."

Stories as Boston is with people courses more are springing up every night. Sooner or later Mayor Curley will install public courses on Boston Common. If the epidemic continues to spread you will not be able to cross Tremont st. without a couple of minia-

CRIMSON'S NEW COACH IN FORMER FOOTBALL ROLES

As I know, I have not been mentioned for the position."

NOW BACKFIELD COACH

In spite of Casey's denial and the fact that he knows nothing about it, it has been common gossip among Harvard alumni and close followers of the football situation across the river, that Casey would be acceptable as Horwens' successor.

At the present time, Casey is backfield coach of the varsity eleven, and much of the crimson success has been due to his coaching.

Casey had remarkable success as freshman coach from 1925 to 1928, and his promotion to the post of varsity backfield coach was roundly approved by Harvard alumni.

FORMER STAR ON TEAM

Casey entered Harvard in 1918, and was immediately recognized as a natural football star. Slight of build Casey made up for his lack of weight with a fighting spirit. Three years ago, and led them to major victories over Harvard's traditional rivals, Princeton and Yale.

Casey had been a star on the varsity football team, and was immediately recognized as a natural football star.

HOLD PLAYERS AT BORDER

George Y. Brown, president of the Boston Tigers, now preparing for their fifth season of play in the American-Canadian League, received a telegram from Eddie Powers, manager of the club, from the Canadian border, saying that immigration authorities had stopped him and his party of aid and new Tigers, and on some technicality were refusing them admission to the country.

Similar encounters have been experienced by other American hockey clubs during the past week, and though the situation undoubtedly will be straightened out in plenty of time for the official opening of the hockey season next month, some of the pre-season practice time may be lost.

Brown is at present in communication with the Secretary of Labor in Washington in an attempt to have the ban on his hockey party lifted as quickly as possible.

Powers had intended starting practice this week-end, as he will be in the arena on Friday. With considerable rebuilding to do, the Tigers had hoped to start right in, but now the start will probably be delayed several days.

With Powers being held at the border were Yank Brown, veteran right winger, and three recruits, Maltie, Brown and Rolfe. Casey, the latter, the youngest brother of American's Lionel and the Maple Leaf star, Eddie Burke and Johnny Johnson, of last year's team are already in town, as is also Townsend, a new forward secured from the Seattle club of the Pacific Coast League.

Fine Program for Dillboy Post Opener

A hot list of amateur events will complete in the Dillboy Post amateur boxing tournament on Thursday night at Ritzville of Columbus building, Highland ave., Somerville. Competition will be held in the following open divisions, 126, 135, 147, 159 pounds and heavyweight.

Con O'Kelly and Gagnon Clash Tonight at Arena

Con O'Kelly, Egan's only candidate for heavyweight honors, will clash with Jack Gagnon, Brighton warrior, in the feature 10-round bout of the Argonne A. A. boxing show tonight at the Boston Arena.

Con O'Kelly's last fight was on meeting with Gagnon and while the Emerald Islander won the decision over Gagnon in their last bout, Gagnon has always maintained that he was "the fish man."

Some who walk out of the ring triumphant tonight will have something else on their hands when they see the fight which for Gagnon has been named "The King" struggling to meet the winner.

Gagnon has improved greatly since his last bout with O'Kelly and has knocked out both Joe Monte of Brockton and Tuffy Griffin.

Since returning to America, O'Kelly has won two fights by decision, one by knockout and one by disqualification. Tonight's battle will mark the opening of his campaign to retain the heavyweight title.

Pittsburgh Gets Niagara Franchise

Pittsburgh will take over Niagara Falls franchise in the International hockey league this season. It was decided at today's meeting of the league. The Pittsburgh National hockey club has been transferred to Philadelphia.

The International circuit will consist of only seven clubs, as F. O. "Reddy" Oke, owner of the Toronto Millionaires, decided to suspend his franchise for the season although retaining his territorial rights.

Widener's Thread Wins Park Plate

Newspaper England, Oct. 21 (AP)—J. E. Widener's Thread won the Park Plate, a $100,000 prize, at a mile and a half, today.

The American-owned horse finished a short neck ahead of C. Harro's Nagon, with L. Jones, Park third in the field of six. Thread started at odds of 4 to 1.

Sonny Wins Over Deglane

Montreal, Que., Oct. 20 (AP)—Gus Sonnenberg, heavyweight wrestler, tonight defeated Henri Deglane, winner of the Olympic championship for France in 1924, by two falls to one. Sonnenberg took the first fall with a flying tackle in 15:20. Deglane evaded the second fall after an interval of eight minutes.

Abie Kaplan, husky Boston grappler, used a reverse body grip to throw Stanley Plets of Chicago, in 14:23 of a scheduled 30-minute preliminary.

"Horwens has done a great job as coach," said Bingham. "I certainly have not seen of Chicago's feel sure he would give me the thought of retiring as coach. He lives in Chicago, his headquarters is there and he knows he is in the East woods. It will be a long haul for him."

"Does that mean that efforts are being made to get Horwens back into the game?" Bingham was asked.

"Certainly," Bingham replied. "We want him to stay and are making every effort to get him to change his mind."

Thus far, Horwens has not made any statement to any press regarding the football coaching. I certainly have not mentioned the matter to Eddie Casey. We have made no plans and will not make any until after December 1st.

Promoter Fined for Protesting Decision Over Sonnenberg

Toronto, Ont., Oct. 20 (AP)—The Ontario Athletic Commission tonight fined Ivan Miskaloff, Toronto promoter, $200 for protesting the ruling of the referee at London, Ont., last week when the official over Gus Sonnenberg, heavyweight wrestler. The latter had remained outside the ropes too long and hence was penalized a fall.

Italian Mat Giant to Meet Russian

Rosario Impellitteri, 285-pound Italian giant, will meet John Grandovich of Russia in the semifinal bout to the Jack Sheer-Martin Platinia feature bout at the Arena one week from Thursday night.

Grandovich is an experienced, capable matman, and arena will qualified to give Impellitteri a severe test.

BEVERLY FIELD SOON TO BE FINEST

By GEORGE HAMBLIN

Enlargement of Beverly Airport, which when completed in the spring will make the field one of the finest in this section has been started. The appropriation of an additional $100,000 by the City of Beverly, bringing the total expended on the port up to $900,000, is being spent for the enlargement of the east-west, northeast-southwest and northwest-southeast runways by 700 feet.

E. L. MacNeil, secretary of the Beverly Aero Club, manager of the field, stated today that the present south runway, 1800 feet in length, will be the shortest of the four when the work is completed. The four-way field will make it possible for planes to take off and land in eight directions.

Plans for the operation of the field by the Aero Club, which is a outside company, are rounding into shape, and an announcement along these lines is expected within a few days.

L-5 VISITS
Stretching 2300 feet long, with clear approaches, will be ready for use when work is completed, handling north-east and south-west, and the east-west, will be 2100 feet long. Lloyd Lohlan, brother of Frank who formerly was sales manager for East Coast Aircraft Corp. and his pilot, Frank Steinman, arrived from New York in a L-5 biplane. They will take photographs here for a New York concern. Lloyd has developed all his energies toward the building up of a large aerial photo service, and this is his first venture into this section.

RANSDELL FILES
Having signed up more business than he can take care of in several good flying days, Edward Ransdell of Aeronautical Service, Inc., of Newbury, N. H., has chartered a Cessna 400 for his photographic flights. He will fly at least three hours a day for the next two weeks, with arrangements for the eastern part of New England.

FLYING DEFENSE
The present low prices on Robt. cabin monoplane were said that Dr. Bob Barker of Winchester, and Bill Smith of Boston, and purchased a Robin from Curtiss-Wright and have had it attractive painted in black and orange. By Barker has hopes of becoming the first flying dentist around Boston. Smith is a salesman and says he will use the ship for cross-country trips. Both are well on their way toward soloing.

R. I. JUNIORS N. WALKOUT

Providence, Oct. 21.—A walkout of 42 nonfraternity juniors at the annual election of junior class officers at Rhode Island State College last night became known today when a claim was made that the election was "fixed" by fraternity powers.

The revelation came when William Kelleher of Providence, president of the Polytechnic, the interfraternity council, declared that he would confer with Prof. Joseph W. Inca and Herman Churchill, faculty members of the Polytechnic, and seek advice toward effecting fraternity policies.

According to the nonfraternity students, the meeting last night to elect officers had been exclusively rehearsed by the fraternity group. Kenneth Goff was elected president after his name had been put up and nominations immediately closed for that office, leaving it uncontested.

In the same manner, Miss Catherine Regan of Pawtucket was elected vice-president. Then the walkout occurred.

Other officers named are Miss Alice Martin, Providence, secretary; Milton Hyatt, Tiverton, Mass., treasurer; Anthony Carroli, Providence, chairman of junior prom.

Lost Aviator Hunted in Jersey Wilderness

Brown Mills, N. J., Oct. 21.—(AP) Search was being continued today for an aviator near Collingwood to earth in a parachute between here and New Jersey. The flyer is believed to have landed in the trappers' wilderness in the dark, which is filled with underbrush and treacherous bogs.

Worcester Couple Sought by Police

Worcester, Oct. 21.—The local police yesterday broadcast orders to pick up Ernest Holt, 16, of Main st., and Eleanor E. Gable, 16, of Dewey st., who are missing.

THE PORT OF BOSTON IN REVIEW

CARL MORRISON

The Department of Commerce has been checking up on equipment of various ships along the Massachusetts coast. The U. S. motor vessel, the Shenan has stopped several ships.

As a result, a large number of vessels have been stopped. In addition to day work, the ship made some night inspection, revealing in many cases lack of ship lights.

The cases reported were: No. 10, no bow or stern light, no side light, etc. 20, no whistle bell or foghorn. 38, insufficient life-saving devices. 52, no fire extinguishers. 53, no halting port of stern, etc. No pilot rules on board. 21, no anchor light, three, no net tonnage on main beam, etc. No official number on main beam, etc. In addition there were 20 warnings in lesser offenders. William T. Murphy of the marine division in the Customs House is in charge of the cases.

TODAY'S WHO'S WHO

The subject of today's "Who's Who in Boston Harbor" is William T. Murphy, New York, N. Y., agent of the United States Line.

"Bill" is the youngest steamship general agent in New England and is based in Boston. Not yet 30 years of age, he has risen in eight years to a major job to office manager. He has held this position for a year and a half. Murphy is married and has two children. He is a member of the Boston Yacht Club and the Boston Golf Club.

CLUB MEETING

The banquet and monthly meeting of the Boston Yacht Club will be held tonight at 8.30 at the Hotel Marlborough. The banquet will be preceded by a business meeting, at which harbor matters will be discussed. The speaker is Hugh G. Miller, manager of the New England office of the foreign and domestic commerce department. The football coaching staff of Boston College will be guests and special mention pictures of South Africa will be shown by Ray Rodney, manager of Norton, Lilly Co.

ENROUTE TO HUB

The Roosevelt Steamship Company announces that a special sailing will be made to Boston by the fast motor vessel Seminole from Australian ports. She is due here about December 15 with about 8000 tons of wool. Her schedule, which will closely follow the auction in the wool market, will consist of: Adelaide, October 21; Melbourne, November 1; Sydney, November 6; Brisbane, November 10. Boston shippers are now calling their orders. The 31-day run is in joint service with the Canadian merchant marine, instead of the formerly existing competition.

FAREWELL SAILING

The North German Lloyd liner Karlsruhe will make her final Boston sailing on October 31. She will be replaced by the more modern liner Berlin, owned and operated by the German Lloyd fleet, here on December 22. The first time that a sailing plan had been put into operation. He is an ardent boater for New England and Boston. He is working with Mayor Curley to bring an American Merchant Marine regular schedule to this port which may prove possible if the proposed sale of the American-Prince-Diamond Line is consummated.

"Bill" has as hobbies golfing.

CURIOUS CREATURES

By RICHARD A. ADDISON

POOR FISH.

ON NEW YORK CITY ALONE THE AMERICAN RIVER EXPRESS CO. COLLECTS ANNUALLY $400,000 ON THE SHIPPING OF LIVE FISH—THEY ARE CAUGHT IN THE MIDDLE WEST, PLACED IN "TANK CARS" AND SHIPPED TO NEW YORK, THERE TO BE DISTRIBUTED TO THE FISH MARKETS—THE CARP IS USED MOST FREQUENTLY IN THE ORDEAL.

"PUT ON THE SPOT"

 him through the brain and he went down, face first. The typewriter was waving back and forth with deadly suggestiveness.
 One by one they stumbled and stumbled backward, their eyes glaring with horror. The machine gunner advanced.

"Where's Gleason," he demanded.
 Monk scrutinized him sternly.
 "Say, whenever they get a new gun, you think I can't?"
 "You can't do it now, but you can now out of this degree and out of this." What did he mean?

"One-eye, who had been searching the big man's face, suddenly lit upon an oath.
 "Where's Gleason—'heary' Gleason?"

A shot of electric automobile ran through Gleason's mind. The doors around them were coming at them now. The mongrel assortment of men, alone, proclaimed their presence.

They Are Frisked

The "frisk" took but a few seconds. The gang was stripped of firearms, which were flung into a corner. The door was shut, and the three, hands and feet, were tied to the wall.
 "Turn around," they ordered. Monk faced him, his mouth hard as iron. He was looking into the eyes of Gleason, the butcher.
 "Where's one of your 'heary' knuckled off Kinky King?" demanded Gleason.

"None of us," answered Monk, slowly. "Not that it gets us a thing."
 "You're a liar," boomed Gleason. "We made a fair bargain. You're up an' at your mob double-cross."
 "None of us," answered Monk, slowly. "Not that it gets us a thing."

Firebug Is Hunted In Westboro Blaze

Westboro, Oct. 21.—A firebug was being sought today by State detectives following a fire which last night destroyed a large barn on the Worcester-Boston highway. Several houses and cows were destroyed. The fire broke out at 10:30 p.m. and was extinguished at 11:30 p.m. by a fire company. The fire was believed to have been started by a firebug.

2 Die, 3 Hurt When Train Hits Truck

Waltham, Oct. 21.—Two lives were lost and three others injured today when a freight train struck a truck on the Boston and Maine railway. The train was traveling south and the truck was traveling north. The collision occurred at 10:15 p.m. The truck was carrying a load of lumber. The train was carrying a load of coal. The collision resulted in the death of two people and the injury of three others.

BAKER SLAYING TRIAL OPENS

Washington, Oct. 21 (AP)—Herbert M. Campbell, Virginia real estate dealer, came to trial today in District of Columbia Federal court, charged with the murder of Mary Baker, my department clerk.

Mrs. Baker's body was found near Arlington National Cemetery April 12. She had been shot three times and choked to death.

The case against Campbell, as far as is known, rests largely on the statement by two ballistics experts that his .32 caliber revolver was fired the shots found in the girl's body.

The defense, however, will counter with two other firearms experts, who assert Campbell's gun did not figure in the slaying.

Think It Over

Drawn by Hal Coffman

In the Arabian Nights, you will find the story of a genie or evil spirit who lived in a bottle. A fisherman found the bottle and uncorked it. The genie escaped, grew suddenly to enormous proportions, and threatened the fisherman's life. There is nothing new under the sun. That story from the Arabian Nights has come true in real life, in America, in this year, 1930.

The bottle is prohibition. The genie is the gangster-population. The poor fisherman, not shown here, is the rest of us.

Like the Arabian fisherman, we wish we could put our genie back in the bottle. Perhaps we can. If we don't, it looks very much as if he would get US.

Reforming Bad Lawyers

Bar Association Is Trying It

Under the leadership of President Herbert Parker, the Boston Bar Association has pledged itself to weed out the lawyers whose hijacking has assumed the proportions of organized and almost legalized piracy.

Parker says: "We must see to it that none who speak in the name and by the authority of our fellowship shall be permitted to profane the faith they falsely profess."

Mr. Parker has taken on a big job for himself. He knows, if not everybody else knows, that the courthouse corridors are marked with legal lawyers, ambulance chasers and buccanniers who prey upon the credulity and gullibility of simple people who run afoul of the law and whose awe in their initial experiences make them easy pickings for the vultures.

But they are small fry. The wolves in the sheep's clothing of respectability are the lawyers who teach their powerful clients how to evade the law, how to cut corners, how to commit reprehensible practices upon the public with bogus satisfaction. This type can be found occasionally even in the committee rooms of the State House, doctoring proposed laws or killing off others through their secret influence. They can be found issuing secret campaign contributions to both political parties. They can be found teaching corporations the arts and wiles of insuring stock dividends to escape the income tax and of collecting fees and rates from the public through dummy holding corporations.

If Mr. Parker can drive some sense of social responsibility into their heads he will be accomplishing much more than by holding up to public scorn some errand, inconsequential lawyer who happens to be remiss in his financial relations with his client.

Worse Than Dynamite

Why Not Label Drunken Drivers?

An interesting treatise on how to transport dynamite safely in automobiles has been published by the United States Department of Commerce.

An auto hauling explosives would be placarded, "High Explosives. DANGEROUS."

An abler and more effective one could be gotten out on drunken drivers. A driver takes two drams of the liquid dynamite that is today called liquor and he becomes a menace to the safety of everyone who gets into his path. Why not a placard for his car, "I'VE BEEN DRINKING. BEWARE. HIGHLY DANGEROUS!"

In this State, in nine months, more than 5000 drunken drivers have been apprehended and their licenses taken away. Ten times that number have never been detected or caught. Our high morality, our high moral slogan, "Whiskey and gasoline won't mix." If they dug a bit deeper into the subject they would be saying that prohibition has not brought safety on the highways.

Spare the Rod

Help the Child

Spare the rod and help the child is a better rule for parents than the old doctrine that harsh and unsympathetic treatment is required.

Enlightened parents have followed that rule for a long time, and now it is officially recognized by the courts.

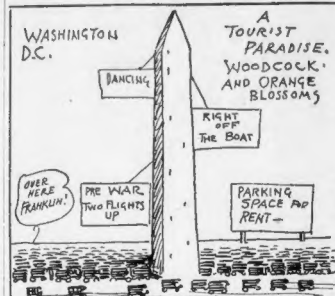

The Superior Court of Rhode Island, for instance, orders the son of a prominent "reformer" of that State to be removed from the home of his father and placed with a man who will give "less harsh treatment and more sympathetic counsel."

Two somewhat similar incidents have occurred recently, both in the families of "reformers" of the fanatical type. They were regrettable, but perhaps both could have been avoided by less restraint and more sympathy.

As a man sows, so shall he reap. The seeds of fear, repression and intimidation planted in your minds bear their crop of evil when the children reach maturity.

Fanaticism is out of place in modern life. Most of all it is out of place in the modern home. Kindness and good temper pay rich dividends. The richest of these is received by parents who apply the Golden Rule in their own households.

Listen, World! -- Wives

By ELSIE ROBINSON
Do Brains Girls Make Good Ones?

HAVE YOU brains, lady? If so, how do they affect you?

Brains, according to the writer of the following letter, are a doubtful asset for wives.

Sal right to leave them. They can find her for her knowledge. But I feel that her use of knowledge, after she gets it, is all wrong. She has a passion for being admired for her "intelligence," and she is continually showing it off to her husband.

When they have company she skillfully leads the conversation towards subjects on which she is conversant, and I admit, makes a brilliant display of her conversational powers. But, at the same time, by her display she belittles her husband. Whenever he makes a statement, or a slip in his English, she darts forward to correct him with the result that my friend has become almost afraid to speak, as she has most of their visitors.

There are no children, though he loves them, but I guess she feels that they would cramp her style.

Of course, she is terribly distressed with her husband. She is always complaining because he has no ambition and is trying to "improve himself." You can see that she feels she has married beneath her and is sorry for herself.

This woman is young and beautiful, and yet she is not charming or beloved, because, in her quest for knowledge, she has lost her femininity. She has forgotten that woman's greatest power and value lie rather in the heart than in the brain. I think she would prove her intelligence by being humble—if she would seem to consult her husband and friends—instead of sacrificing their feelings to her passion for admiration.

It is in this nature to be good—a lymphic person who is quite satisfied with his position in life.

His wife is the opposite. She is a professional woman, very keen for acquiring knowledge. She has taken up philosophy, music, art, public speaking, interior decorating—although she is not outstanding in any branch. These interests keep her very busy and excited. And they have made a breach, which is

DEAR MISS ROBINSON: I am interested in your defense of professional women as wives. I agree that they should make the best of what they have—PROVIDED THEY KNOW HOW TO BE WOMEN FIRST AND ARE ABLE TO COMBINE DISCRIMINATION AND COMMON SENSE IN THEIR DAILY DEALINGS WITH THEIR HUSBANDS.

Here is an example of what I mean. I have a friend who is a clerk, just as I am. He has no ambition, but he is a jolly, good fellow, peaceful, fond of his home, a playmate to children, always ready to run errands for his wife, whom he adores, and friendly to everyone. It is his nature to be good—a lymphic person who is quite satisfied with his position in life.

The Zulu King

And His Proud Mother-in-Law

SALOMO, "KING OF ALL THE ZULUS"

The three pictures in this column remind you that people of many sorts live on our earth.

You have heard of the famous Zulu king, ruling over vast areas in Africa, named Cetewayo.

He was a desperate fighter, savagely courageous. But the British with modern weapons conquered him and took his lands.

They sent him away a prisoner, but treated him kindly, following the wise British habit.

He was allowed to take as many wives as he chose, and a good many more than he needed, and he was well supplied with money.

The British want land and power to collect taxes; they let you manage your MOARS to suit yourself.

Cetawayo is gone, over the road to the Zulu heaven, and his son Salomo rules in his place, not as a prisoner, but free to go and come among the Zulus.

All desire to fight Britain is taken out of him by a liberal cash allowance. He does as he pleases, has plenty of money. His large, snorting automobile is driven by a white chauffeur.

He takes many wives and the British say "Help yourself." You see here his wife, Malunga, No. 40 among his precious possession; also, Akulyanoni, that wife's mother, King Salomo's fortieth mother-in-law.

AKULYANONI, THE KING'S PROUD 40TH MOTHER-IN-LAW

The smears of white on her face, arms and chest, indicate her dignity and her importance.

To the credit of the Zulus be it said, they treat mothers-in-law well, grateful to them for having produced excellent wives.

Some sons-in-law in this land of high civilization might learn from the Zulus.

King Salomo insists that each wife must play the piano and display in his court a certain amount of culture.

Forty wives playing forty pianos, with forty mothers-in-law singing appropriate Zulu songs, should save any king from boredom.
